THE EVENING CRITIC.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Great Circus. The magnificent and imposing pageant and procession of Coup's grand circus on our Avenue to-day attracted an immense throng of spectators, which is only equaled in numbers by the vast audiences that assembled this afternoon within the and under the acres of canvas to witness the excellent remarkable Laiti is huried a hundred feet through the air from an immense catapult and lights upon a trapeze.

In addition to the extensive menagerie, among other attractions are genuine Zulus, and in the number is Princess Arnuzulu, the daughter of King Cetewayo, a tribe of Indians, and automatic wonders.

"Baron Rudolph" continues at the National. We regret that so excellent a play, and one so perfectly performed, should not have been more largely patronized; but the cause is in the wretched weather, not from any lack of appreciation of its eminent merits by our citizens. Ford's Opera-house.

The "Patience" troupe had a fine house last night, and the opera ran smoothly along. There will be the usual matinee tomorrow afternoon. Great credit is due to the theatre for the unexceptionably hand-some mounting of the piece.

Theatre Comique. The Theatre Comique presented last even-ing, as usual, its array of varied talent to an interested house. The specialty artists and the concluding drama are of the high-est character of variety merit. Matinee to-

Abner's Garden.

Abner's summer gardens, with the re-markably fine Vienna ladies' orchestra, at-tract their usually large and delighted audiences nightly.

In the present weather no resort is more charming than Driver's grotto gardens, where beautiful music (vocal and instru-mental) induces rest and quiet enjoyment.

Preparing to Receive the French Visitors.

The following committee was appointed at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, of New York, yesterday, to confer with the committee appointed by Gov. Cornell, for the reception of the French and other foreign visitors expected here to take part in the Yorktown celebration: S. D. Babcock, L. W. Cooper, Chas. F. Tiffany, Franklin Alston, Frederick Talcott, John Sloan, Gustave Schwab, Martin Chandler, Morris K. Jessup, J. Austin Stevens, A. Gracie King and Henry Hilton. Among those present were Thomas Ball, Capt. Sloan, J. Austin Stevens, George Lane, Royal Phelps, James Talcott, J. M. Brown, Frederick Lawrence, John Wilson, Capt. John Riley and Isaac Hall. Resolutions were adopted authorizing the committee to make arrangements for tendering to the distinguished guests the courtesies of the merchants of New York at such a time as may suit them.

The companies propose to visit Baltimore as a battalion, will pay their own expenses, and each company number about fifty muskets; they will also take with them a band of music. The communication was referred to the advisory committee, and the companies have been invited to participate.

Let's Talk About the Weather.

The weather of the present summer-all it summer because no sign nor s The weather of the present summer—we call it summer because no sign nor semblance of fall has as yet shown up—has been the most disagreeable and beastly since the flood. Our oldest inhabitant has been questioned on the subject, and Susan B. Anthony interviewed. The former takes oath with an intermingling of profanity that this year discounts anything within the schedule of his recollection, and the amiable dame, Miss Anthony, says that throughout her long experience in life, there has been nothing to equal it since the hot day on the Nile, when the stern cold-blooded Cresar made it so hot for her first husband Mark.

For one hundred and twenty days, more or less—probably more—the thermometer sembled this afternoon within the and under the seres of canvas to witness the excellent and extensive performance.

Col. Coup has well won his title of King of the Circus, and in his present enormous combination gives to our people the most perfect, refined and novel show that has ever visited our city. There will be a grand night performance this evening and to-morrow. It will be well for our readers to remember that if they wish to avoid the inconvenience of purchasing tickets at the grounds, they can be accommodated at Ellis and Metzecott's music stores.

The entire combination sums up ten large shows in one (exclusive of the Paris Hippodrome), and exhibits under a perfect sky of acres of canvas, in four immense circus rings. The Hippodrome track is forty feet wide and several hundred yards around.

The character of the performance is refined, and, in addition, perfectly novel, differing from the old-time stale order of arrangements. Not only do they have the circus amusements, but also thrilling chariet contests, exciting steeple chases and hurdle races. Then there is the excellent harbor has been until the test of the substand Mark.

Our city of magnificent distances and munificent dust has throughout its thoroughfares and along its buildings been scorched and burned by an omnipotent sun, and the city, with its usual magnanimity of character, has reciprocated the warmth received from the sun upon its citizens, and succeeded with unexcelled intensity of purpose in getting in its work upon them.

The amount of liquid fluid burned out of our humblest inhabitant during the continuous summer would be an ocean to the tears shed by Niobe, and extinguish the flames about the funeral pyre of Dido.

Oysters have suffered from the hot weather, and the sun cooks the fish before they are imported from the sea. Philanthropic dogs have been known during the past few months to bark themselves to death in front of the office of our alleged newspaper evening contemporary for fear of doing harm through hydrophobia, and all vegetables, milk, and butter are increasing in price.

It is expected that the winter will be a very serious season for the poor, as the raising of the more immediate necessaries of life has been handicapped by the wretched

Sutt Against the W. & A. R. R. Company.

Yesterday Mr. Charles W. Graham entered suit before Justice Bundy against the Washington & Alexandria Railroad, claiming $100 damages. Counsellors Thomas F. Miller and Charles S. Moore appeared for the plaintiff, and Gen. Enoch L. Totten for the defendant. The cause of the suit, as alleged in the statement of facts, was that on the 20th instant the plaintiff purchased a ticket for Alexandria, and entered the ladies' car. One of the employees approached him and requested him to leave that coach and go into the smoking car. This he quietly but firmly refused to do. He was thereupon ejected from the car, and kept on the platform of the depot until the train left. The defense claim that he was intoxicated, and, appreheuding that he might become boisterous, deemed it advisable either that he should ride in some other coach than the ladies or should not be permitted to ride at all.

BULLETS THROUGH THE HEART.

Mr. W. F. Gregory, a young man 22 years of age, the son of W. F. C. Gregory, of Richmond, Va., and an employee in the folding-room of the United States House of Representatives, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at his boarding-house corner of Third and C streets northwest. He ate his dinner and conversed with his fellow-boarders pleasantly, and left the diningroom saying he was going to his room. He had hardly ascended the stairs when two pistol shots were heard. Messrs. R. C. Edwards and C. S. Goodboro ran up to Gregory's room and finding the door locked forced it open. Young Gregory lay over against the bed in his shirt sleeves, one hand clutching a still smoking bull-dog pistol. He had shot himself through the heart and died instantly. No cause was assigned for the act. Two notes were found on the table. In one he stated that he had money in bank in this city and Richmond. The other simply said, "Forget and forgive this Deliberate Suicide of W. F. Gregory.

table. In one he stated that he had money in bank in this city and Richmond. The other simply said, "Forget and forgive this deed." On his person was a handsome gold watch and chain and $97.

Coroner Patterson and Dr. Walsh viewed the remains, and it was found that both balls had passed through the heart. The first one was evidently fired while Gregory was sitting on the side of the bed, came out under the shoulder blade and flattened on the wall back of the bedstead. It was picked up from the floor. The second shot is supposed to have been fired while the man was lying down. The ball took a downward course, came out above the hip, and was found between the back and the man's shirt. An inquest was deemed un-downward course, came out above the hip, and was found between the back and the man's shirt. An inquest was deemed unnecessary, as the Coroner decided that it was a case of deliberate suicide.

Young Gregory had been boarding at Mrs. Ingle's for seven years. Before he shot himself yesterday he paid his board bill up to the 1st of October.

A telegram was received at Mrs. Ingle's boarding-house this morning from the parents of Mr. Gregory, in Richmond, Va., stating that they would not come to this city, and requesting that the body of their unfortunate son should be sent to Richmond at the earliest possible date.

It was then arranged that the Rev. Dr. Pitzer should conduct a funeral service at the house at 3 o'clock, and that the body should be removed from the house and sent to Richmond at 5 p. m. The persons who have lived at the house with the deceased for four years regret the loss of a very pleasant friend and exemplary companion. The nearest friends of the unfortunate youth give no reason for his sudden and sad act, but there is a difference of opinion on this point.

An old friend of Mr. Gregory's stated to-bas been handicapped by the wretched weather.

In Virginia and Maryland the corn crop was almost universally cut down and cured for fodder as there was no possibility of a crop. The tobacco crop was a dead failure. The oyster dealers have lost and continue losing heavily. It is not an unusual circumstance for men engaged in supplying oysters in this city to lose from $75 to $150 a day by reason of the condition of the shell-fish when they arrive here.

On the whole, in a temperate sense, it is not at all out of place to state that this has been a terrible summer; hottee than Hades and sicklier than Gehenna. Whether it be a due to the comet, or to Vennor and the Signal-service combined, or whether it be a visitation of Divine Providence preparing us for our future eternal abode, we know not, but certainly it is a fact that the summer of 1881 has made it more pleasant for the human outfit of existence than any other season on record in the chronicles of national history or Ayer's almanaes.

There are ten churches of the Christian denomination in Washington and Maryland, and the total number of members is 2,000 and a large Sunday-school roll. In the afternoon session of yesterday Mrs. Schell, of this city, read a paper on "Woman's Work in the Church," in which she pointed out very effectively the valuable work done for Christianity by the individual and collective women members of the church. In the evening Dr. Power delivered an eloquent sermon, in which he alluded to the noble Christian character of President Garfield, and particularly to his Christian fortitude during his languishing.

Sixteen Years Ago.

Explanation of a Murder Committed Sixteen Years Ago.

A strange story in connection with a murder committed sixteen years ago is contained in a letter from Batesville, Ark. James Baxter and his wife were emigrating to Louisiana in 1845, and fell in with a mau calling himself Isaac Young, when near the Louisiana boundary line. They encamped one night at the head of a lonely glen, when both the men disappeared. The deserted wife, knowing that her husband had $2,000 in gold on his person, was convinced that he had been murdered by Young, but all her efforts to trace him or her husband failed. She settled herself in a little hut close to the scene of her husband's disappearance, and has lived there ever since, waiting for tidings. Recently she received a letter dated Melbourne, Australia, from a stranger, stating that a man had died there who passed by the name of Saunders, but papers he left behind him showed that he was Isaac Young, an American. The papers included a confession of the murder of Baxter, and pointing out the place where his body could be found. He further stated that he had gone to New Orleans and took passage to Australia, where he speculated with great success. At his death he was quite wealthy, and he directed that Mrs. Baxter should be searched for, and, if living, paid $2,000, with interest from the date of the murder. He also begged forgiveness for his crime. An investigation proved that the information was correct as to the murder, for the remains of Baxter were found in the glen and decently buried. Mrs. Baxter has declined to accept the money, but she may yet conclude to accept it if the murderer is actually dead, which many people doubt.
